

Isolated experiment: Every topic received an individual client that was a publisher and another that was a subscriber to that topic.

Multipurpose experiment: Every topic received one client that would first subscribe to that topic then publish messages to it, expecting to receive them

IMPORTANT NOTICE WITH PONTE: Percentage messages retrieved startlingly low. First thought is that the client's subscription message never came, which could explain 0% reception rate for some topics. Will reconfigure experiment to guarantee subscription message is received